Trains Rolling Again on U.S. Court Order

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Trains were rolling again today as court orders ended a one-day strike against six midcontinent railroads.

An estimated 5,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen walked out early Monday, stopping traffic and freight-handling on the lines.

Railroad attorneys quickly obtained temporary restraining orders in U.S. district courts, banning strikes and picketing.

Union officials said the men were returning to work as the orders were served, but one official said the strike would resume when the restraining orders expire.

Injunction hearings are set for late this week and next week.

The stoppage affected Tennessee, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and Colorado.

The railroads are the Missouri Pacific, Missouri-Kansas-Texas (Katy), Texas & Pacific, the Texas and Louisiana lines of the Southern Pacific, the Texas - Mexican Railway, and the Houston Port Terminal Association Railroad.

Louis E. Corsi of Cleveland, public relations director for the union, said the strike was called to "clear up a lot of local conditions that have existed for years — rules, pay, work conditions, everything."

Alarm arose quickly in the wheat belt because the harvest is in full swing. Grain men had visions of new wheat piling up at country elevators and being dumped on the ground, subject to spoilage from rain.

Maynard E. Parks of St. Louis, Missouri Pacific vice president for personnel, said the strike violated a restraining order issued in Washington Sunday by U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff, who set a hearing for June 22.

R. D. Jones, vice president of the brotherhood, who was directing the strike from Houston, said Judge Holtzoff's order applied only to the national matter of reducing the size of train crews.

Jones said the strike involved only local grievances that have been through the Railway Labor Board and many courts.

Restraining orders were issued late Monday in U.S. District Courts by Judge James Meredith in St. Louis, Judge Marion S. Boyd in Memphis, Tenn., Judge Leo Brewster and Judge Joe Ingraham in Houston.

Pontchartrain Bridge Wreck Fatal to Six

By GAVIN SCOTT

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Two barges smashed a gap in the world's longest bridge before dawn today and a Trailways bus plunged over the edge into Lake Pontchartrain, killing six passengers.

Divers recovered some of the bodies from the bus, submerged in about 15 feet of the brackish water. A Coast Guard helicopter rescued one man and plucked another body from the lake.

The bus driver was one of two survivors. Five bodies were recovered. One body was trapped in the bus wreckage.

The heavy barges, one loaded with gravel and the other with a big dredge, knocked down about 200 feet of the causeway — a low bridge resembling a highway on stilts.

Two Annual Goof-off Periods in Average Business Office Is Seasonal Doldrums

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There are two annual goof-off periods in the average business office—the winter doldrums and the summer doldrums.

We now are in the time of the summer doldrums. Management bulletin boards bloom with exhortatory signs of the staff.

Appeals make very little impact on the hired hands. The boss calls a conference of his executives for ideas to pep up the morale of the staff and put more incentive and drive in the organization.

In the middle of the conference he looks around and discovers half his executives are dozing and the other half are staring out the window with glazed eyes. The great summer letdown has hit them, too.

His anger gives way to a yawn. He has become a victim of the general listlessness himself. He thinks it would be nice to be out on a golf course.

There are several reasons why the work pace slows during the season of the summer goof-off.

The main one is that the staff is more interested in spending its own money than in making money for the firm. The warming weather fills them with a deepening laziness and drains ambition from their brains.

Vacations become the all-important topic. The coffee breaks and lunch hours get longer as

Damage High, 18 Dead in Jap Earthquake

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — A giant earthquake dealt a shattering blow to the important industrial-commercial city of Niigata in north Japan today, causing millions of dollars in property damage and a still-undetermined loss of life.

The temom—strongest in Japan since the catastrophic quake of 1923 wiped out Tokyo and Yokohama—struck a vast area of Honshu at 1:01 p.m.—11:01 p.m. EST Monday. At 5:45 p.m., the national police reported 18 persons dead, 3 missing and 103 injured, many seriously.

However, the casualty count was chiefly from northern Japanese cities and towns still in contact with Tokyo. Niigata, a dead city without gas, water, electricity or normal telephone and telegraph communications, had given only fragmentary reports of its stricken state as night fell.

A refining center for nearly all of Japan's domestic petroleum, Niigata is on the Sea of Japan 160 miles northwest of Tokyo and is a chief port for trade with the Soviet Union. Minutes after Niigata was hit, fire enveloped three 30,000-ton and two 45,000-ton petroleum storage tanks, sending flames and smoke high into the darkening sky.

At the same time, the sea level dropped 13 feet, followed by a tidal wave which flooded lowland areas, washed small boats away.

Changes in Hours at Post Office

In order to comply with the Postal Service adjustments made by the Postal Department, Washington, D.C. on May 4, 1964 and also because of changes in hours of receiving incoming mail, it has become necessary to change the hours of window service in the Post Office.

Also the hours of city delivery effective June 22, 1964. The windows of the Post Office will open at 8:30 a.m. instead of 8 a.m. and will close at 5 p.m. the usual time. The City carriers will leave the Post Office at 8:30 a.m. instead of 8 a.m. which means that all deliveries will be 30 minutes later during the day.

These changes will not effect rural routes. Rural route deliveries will be carried out at their usual time.

The change of window hours applies to all First Class Post Offices in the United States.

Hope Star Drops Predate Practice; Today's Mail Issue Is Dated June 16

Effective today Hope Star is discontinuing the practice of pre-dating papers sent through the mail to rural subscribers in Hempstead and adjoining counties.

Under the pre-date system today's Star would be received by these mail subscribers dated Wednesday, June 17, although — as every one knows — it is the identical edition received by carrier-served subscribers in Hope and neighboring towns Tuesday, June 16.

We are compelled to make this move because of the narrowing margin of time between the end of the press-run and the deadline for receipt of mail copies at Hope Post Office. The predate system works well enough on all days except Thursday, when the paper ranges from 12 to 16 pages and requires two runs on the press.

On Thursdays we are faced with this problem: Each of the two sections has papers with two datings — today, and tomorrow's predate. We can't speed up delivery of the predate edition to the post office until the press clears today's dating and gives us a main news section with the predate dating so the early-printed second section can be inserted.

Using a single dating through the entire edition will permit inserting of Thursday's two sections in time to avoid missing the mail.

Hope Star goes to press every day with all the Associated Press news through the close of the wire at 2:30 p.m. — the only true final edition anyone receives in the Hope trade area. But the Hope Post Office deadline for receipt of newspaper mail to Emmet and some other points in the Hope trade area is now 6 p.m.

That doesn't leave us much time to print and insert and address a two-section newspaper.

Dropping the predate idea is one way of making sure you don't miss getting Thursday's paper on the Friday morning mail.

Big Sum Is Okayed for City Streets

The City Board of Directors last night approved a large street maintenance program for the summer, to be paid for with funds made available by the Water & Light Commission.

The Water & Light Commission had made available an additional $25,000 for street maintenance which, according to the plan approved by the Board of Directors last night, will be spent in an extensive seal coating of existing streets and the addition of 8 or 10 thousand yards of gravel.

Street Superintendent, Fred Russell, estimated that it will take this amount of gravel to cover streets that are now graveled and a number of streets that need additional gravel.

The Board of Directors also discussed a number of recent complaints concerning the blocking of the sidewalk and traffic by trucks using the loading entrance on East 3rd Street at the Ritchie Grocery Company. The Board of Directors instructed the City Manager to contact the Ritchie Grocery Company to see what provisions might be made to correct the condition.

They also discussed some complaints about the trains whistling through town. No action was taken to repeal the ordinance providing for trains whistling at the crossings because the Board felt that this might contribute to a fatal accident of some citizen at a railroad crossing.

A "no-whistling" ordinance which had been on the books for several years was repealed a few years ago following the death of Mrs. Lloyd Collier, a crossing accident on Walker Street.

In other action, an ordinance closing a 25 foot dedication between Walnut and Dewey street and a short section of a 25 foot dedication on Dewey street was passed to the 2nd reading and the Board authorized advertising for bids on two new Police cars.

Colleges Told to Estimate Bldg. Needs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A state commission directed both public and private colleges in Arkansas Monday to estimate their building needs for the next four years so federal funds for them can be divided properly.

The funds are expected to be allocated to the state under the Higher Educational Facilities Act.

The Commission on co-ordination of Higher Educational Finance has been designated as the agency to distribute the funds.

College presidents met with E. L. Angell, commission director, Monday and were told they could share in $1,580,000 when the appropriation is passed. That is the expected first-year allocation for the three-year program.

Angell said that if every college participated in the first year's allocation, he doubted if a full one-third matching fund could be provided.

If priorities are set, with colleges waiting their turn for funds, he said, he believed each college could have its matching funds.

Angell said the commission would like to work out a four year master plan under which construction priorities will be set for the schools.

Signatures Number 12,000

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Committee for the Community Junior College Amendment said Monday it has acquired about 12,000 signatures on petitions to get the amendment it sponsors on the November general election ballot.

The current number is about one third of the signatures needed, the committee said. Deadlines for submitting the petition to the secretary of state is July 3.

The committee is backing a proposed amendment to authorize the legislature to enact laws authorizing creation of junior college districts similar to the state's current school districts. Under the laws several school districts, or counties could join to form a junior college district. Colleges founded in the district would be supported by tax funds.

Scranton Stalks Delegates for Kansas Votes

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton contended today "conservatism is a living, vital, dynamic political concept" as he stalked Kansas delegate votes in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Scranton declared in remarks prepared for delivery to a Republican luncheon that Democrats can build a case against the GOP this fall "if we Republicans let them."

"If we allow the conservative point of view to become tarnished and shopworn," he said, then Democrats could logically attack the GOP.

"The opposition party can't sell its gimcracks on the open American market unless we Republicans can fairly be accused of not offering a sane and reasonable alternative," he added.

Scranton sought support of the Kansas delegation to the San Francisco Republican convention after a foray Monday into Iowa that included an evening after a foray for him in Des Moines.

Kansas generally is viewed as a state favoring the presidential aspirations of Sen. Barry Goldwater, the front runner for delegate support at San Francisco.

Scranton's address appeared to soft-pedal some of his differences with the senator over federal aid.

Special City Board Meet Is Tonight

A special meeting of the Board of City Directors will be held tonight at 8:00 p.m. at the City Hall to discuss the question of issuing a franchise for the operation of a cable television system. The City has applications from four different companies, requesting a franchise for this service. The proposal would install a cable system around town that would provide television service from several stations that are not now available, and would, according to the applicants, offer better reception. Once the cable system was in place, the service would be available to subscribers at a rate that has been estimated at around $5.00 per month.

These proposals have been discussed at several previous meetings, and there has been strong opposition from the local television dealers and repairmen. This meeting was set aside to hear from all interested parties, and applicants, local dealers and any other interested people are asked to attend.

Rockefeller said that during his tours he has found others concerned about the possibility of a sixth term for Faubus. He predicted the largest voter turnout for a general election in the history of the state and said the Republican Party would watch the conduct of the election closely.

Signs Job Safe Proclamation

Winthrop to Just Wait and Watch

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller said here Monday that he would take a position of "watchful waiting" now that his brother has withdrawn from the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller withdrew from the race suddenly Monday and gave his full backing to Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton.

"I am sorry to learn that my brother has withdrawn from the race," Winthrop Rockefeller said. He was in Jackson County for a day of handshaking and appearances in several communities.

"It has long been my feeling that he has all the qualifications necessary to be a great president," Rockefeller said of his brother. "I have great admiration for his courage and energy that he put into his campaign for the principles in which he believed."

Rockefeller said he hoped he could do an equally good job in "fighting for my principles in my own race for governor in Arkansas."

"I have long believed that it is in the best interest of the state of Arkansas not to be committed to any presidential contender in advance of a national convention," he said.

My political beliefs, Rockefeller said, are somewhere between those of my brother and Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Rockefeller issued the prepared statement before addressing a civic club dinner here which concluded his Jackson County tour.

At an informal luncheon earlier in the day, Rockefeller said he did not run against Gov. Orval E. Faubus in 1962 because the Republican Party in Arkansas had not crystallized at that time.

Rockefeller has called his tours in various parts of the state "handshaking tours" and not work against Faubus. "It would be silly for me to be working against the wrong man," Rockefeller said, referring to the possibility that Faubus might be defeated by one of his four Democratic opponents.

Rockefeller said that during his tours he has found others concerned about the possibility of a sixth term for Faubus.

He predicted the largest voter turnout for a general election in the history of the state and said the Republican Party would watch the conduct of the election closely.

Over 8,000 are enrolled during the regular term.

Going to Top, Goldwater Tells Texans

By WALTER R. MEARS

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater declared today he intends to lead the Republican ticket—from top to bottom—to victory at the polls next November.

Goldwater said he can do the job, no matter what "the doom shouters" say.

"I intend to lead a united party on a platform of principle—the same platform and the same principle in every part of this nation," the front-running Republican presidential contender said in an address prepared for the Texas Republican Convention.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who plunged into the race for the GOP nomination Friday, argues a Goldwater ticket would spell defeat for Republicans seeking congressional seats, state and local offices.

Out to round up Texas delegates' votes at the Republican National Convention, Goldwater declared: "Whatever the dopest and pollsters say—what ever we hear from the doom shouters in both parties—I intend to lead all the candidates to victory, North and South, East and West, in November."

"The Republican party can win the South in 1964," Goldwater said. "The Republican party can win the nation in 1964."

"From the courthouse to the Congress, we are going to concede nothing."

Goldwater aides said the senator's congressional supporters, more than 60 strong, will defend him.

Witnesses Plan Annual Convention

Summer convention plans are being finalized by the Hope Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses according to an announcement made this week by Clifford Cook, presiding minister of the congregation. He will head a delegation of about 7 from here to attend the district convention being held in Texarkana, Texas, July 2-5.

"The gathering is expected to attract upwards of 4,000 minister-delegates from a six-state area of the United States covering Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Tennessee," Cook remarked. He explained that the Texarkana meet is one of a series of 37 assemblies scheduled to be held over a two-month period on a national level. The last one will end on August 30 at Cheyenne, Wyo.

"The summer conference will be held at the Texarkana College Auditorium, 2624 North Robinson Road," Cook said.

Those Over 65, Working See SS Man

Otis A. Blackwood, district manager of the Texarkana Social Security Office, states that if you are over 65 and still working, you should consult your nearest social security office.

Have you read or heard the above advice before but then failed to follow up on it? If so, this article is for you.

Most people know that in order to collect social security benefits for each month in the year, they must limit their earnings to $1200 for that year. What many people do not seem to realize is that even if one is over 65 and still earning more than $1200 a year, it is possible that some social security benefits can be paid. For each $2 of earnings over $1200, only $1 of beneficiary's social security payments is withheld. For earnings above $1700, $1 in social security benefits is withheld for each $1 in earnings.

However, regardless of total earnings for a year, the claimant can receive full benefits for any month in which he earned $100 or less, and did not "render substantial services" in self-employment. An application must, of course, be filed before any benefits can be paid.

Therefore, if you are over 65 and still working, you should definitely consult your social security district office at 121 College Drive, Texarkana, Texas.

GOP Chiefs Meet on Platform

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and other top Republicans gathered today for a "Party to People Forum" designed to guide the GOP platform committee in drafting the foreign policy planks of the party platform at the national convention.

The discussion took on new importance with the entry of Gov. William W. Scranton into the race for the GOP presidential nomination against Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona at the July 13 convention in San Francisco.

Named to serve with Eisenhower on the panel were former Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates; former Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota; former Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce; Dr. Robert Strauss-Lupe, director of the University of Pennsylvania's Foreign Policy Research Institute; and Dr. William Kitter, the institute's deputy director.

Okay to Give Campaign Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Gov. Oral E. Faubus said Monday that state employees have been asked to contribute funds for his campaign but said they have never been pressured into doing so.

Faubus said at a news conference that he could see nothing wrong with soliciting campaign funds from state employees when the person soliciting the funds takes down names during the course of the fund raising.

But he said it was a matter of practical politics that pressuring employees to contribute could cost him votes.

Employees who have not contributed, Faubus said, either because they did not want to or because they were financially unable, have not lost their jobs. "Did you ever know of a candidate getting funds voluntarily?" Faubus asked newsmen. "How are you going to get any funds if you don't ask for them?"

Ruling Won't Hurt State Immediately

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A legal source said today that the U.S. Supreme Court ruling on legislative apportionment probably won't have any immediate effect in Arkansas.

The high court held today that both houses of bicameral state legislatures must be apportioned as nearly as possible on a population basis.

The legal source said the legislative apportionment in Arkansas is governed by the state constitution and the method of apportionment can be changed only by amendment unless constitutional provisions are struck down by a federal court.

State Senate districts were frozen by a 1946 constitutional amendment. The constitution also requires that each of the 75 counties, regardless of population, shall have one representative. This uses up 75 of the 100 House seats. The remaining 25 seats are apportioned on a population basis.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, the state's chief legal officer, was in Honolulu for a meeting of attorneys general. His chief assistant, Jack Lessnerberry, said he would not want to comment on the ruling until he has studied it.

The one representative for each county provision in the constitution has a built-in population inequity. Perry County, for example, with 4,927 residents in the slaying.

Mrs. Haggenkotter filed the petition for custody of the child. Her attorney, George F. Hartje Jr. of Conway, said the boy was being used as a pawn because it was felt his testimony might be tampered with.

Mrs. Haggenkotter has been in Arkansas for two weeks and has not seen her son, Hartje said.

The identity of the dead was not immediately learned. The bus driver, Ernest Vaughn of Jackson, Miss., was reported in critical condition at a New Orleans hospital.

The barges, pushed by the towboat Rebel Jr., rammed the causeway about eight miles from the New Orleans end.

John Lambert, chairman of the Greater New Orleans Expressway Commission, said the causeway will be reopened to traffic in about 10 days, if weather conditions permit. Jackie Church, 19, of Mandeville—a town on the northern end of the causeway—reached the gap shortly after the bus fell.

Church said he dove in and pulled one man from the water. One of the rescue dows William Cockerham, an Army sergeant from Baton Rouge, La. He was taken to a New Orleans hospital.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A barge knocked out two sections of the world's longest bridge before dawn today and a Trailways bus plunged over the edge into Lake Pontchartrain.

First reports from police said two injured persons had been rescued from the water, one body was recovered and at least five were missing.

The accident occurred roughly 10 miles from the city, has one House member. So does Miller County, with a population of 31,686.

ly midway on the 24-mile causeway that stretches north from New Orleans across the brackish waters of Lake Pontchartrain.

A Coast Guard helicopter, equipped with floodlights, hovered over the scene and hoisted one of the injured aboard. Police said a body was picked up by a Coast Guard patrol boat.

The lake was smooth as a mirror. The bus submerged in the water—which averages 15 feet in depth—and was quickly located.

The bus was en route from New Orleans to Jackson, Miss.

Trailways officials said they could not say how many passengers were aboard, since the driver could have picked up some along the way after leaving the station.

The immense lake was the scene of another tragedy last Feb. 25 when an Eastern Air Lines jet liner, with 58 persons aboard, plunged into the lake shortly after taking off from New Orleans. All were killed.

The causeway is low, standing about 20 feet above water. It has two drawbridges to allow vessels passage.

eign affairs and civil rights.

By WILLIAM L. EBERLINE DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton carried his uphill fight for the Republican presidential nomination into Kansas today, cheered by an Iowa welcome he described as "the best in my life."

It remained to be seen, though, how fruitful was his quest for votes among Iowa's 24 GOP national convention delegates. Scranton is out to wrest the nomination from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Scranton met with Iowa delegates for nearly an hour behind closed doors Monday night. He told reporters afterward, "I think we made substantial progress."

Delegates said the governor spoke and answered questions. They termed it "a very impressive appearance." However, no delegate beyond the five already committed to him came out publicly in support of Scranton.

An Associated Press survey of Iowa's delegates shows nine committed to Goldwater, five committed to Scranton and ten uncommitted.

Scranton's backers said they were encouraged by: —the governor's greeting here by a cheering crowd of 3,700; —the news that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had withdrawn from the nomination race and called on moderates to back Scranton;

—a public endorsement of the Pennsylvanian by Gov. John Anderson of Kansas. Scranton was almost mobbed as he alighted from the plane.

Chants of "We want Bill, we want Bill" answered the "We want Barry, we want Barry" cries of a noisy, though comparatively small, group of Goldwater backers.

The Goldwater forces conceded the turnout was surprisingly large, considering that Scranton's Iowa backers learned only late Saturday that he was coming to their state.

"I never had such a reception in my life, even in Pennsylvania," Scranton told the crowd.

In his speech, Scranton did mention Goldwater by name but said this is not the time to join "extreme reactionaries who are anything but conservative—those radicals of the right who would launch a system of dime-store feudalism."

"We must have people in the White House who think, because the decision is made there whether we should have war or have peace," he declared.

"This is not the hour for us to go off half-cocked in the field of foreign policy—the very field in which the American people have always supported the steady judgment and sound leadership of the Republican party when in power."

Earlier Scranton described as a "tremendous boost" the support announced for him by Rockefeller Monday.

"I appreciate support from anyone—especially from one of the real leaders of our party," he said.

Southerners Dash Hopes of Leaders

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) Southern senators dashed the hopes of Senate leaders to complete action today on amendments to the civil rights bill.

After a caucus of the Dixie forces, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., told newsmen that such talk was "fantastic." In his opinion, he said, it would not be possible.

Prior to the meeting of the Southern foes of the bill, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., had said he saw a very good chance that voting on amendments would be completed by tonight.

Humphrey, floor manager of the bill, said that if the Southerners insisted on bringing up a large number of additional amendments, the Senate would stay in session late into the night in an effort to dispose of them.

He and other leaders were driving for Senate passage of the bill before the end of the week, hopefully by Thursday at the latest.

Word from House Democratic leaders was that they were confident of sending the bill to President Johnson's desk before adjourning on July 2 for the Republican convention if the Senate completed action this week.

"I wouldn't predict we'd finish the bill this week," said Russell, leader of the Southern bloc, however, he did not rule this out completely.

Debate on the bill and all amendments has been limited to one hour for each senator since the Senate's history-making 71-29 vote last Wednesday to invoke its anti-filibuster closure rule.

But despite limit on de-

Burrow Thinks Chances Good

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) R. D. Burrow, the silent candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said Monday that he thought he had a good chance in the governor's race.

Burrow, who has made no speeches or appearances since filing as a candidate last April 29, said he probably will open his campaign this weekend.

"I have a pretty big following in Northeast Arkansas," Burrow said. "Of course, in other parts of the state I'm not so well known, but I'll be hitting those."

He hasn't made any political appearances, he said, because he just returned from a vacation in Florida where he has been since shortly after filing. He would not say where he planned to open the campaign but said he had two or three places in mind. He added that he had in mind three or four persons whom he would name as campaign aides.

Burrow said he was not worried about financing his campaign. He hasn't gotten any money yet, he said. "But there is some I can get any time."

Burrow will tour the state in a painted campaign car with loudspeakers, he said.

bate, Southern senators can call up for a vote more than 500 amendments still on file, even if they run out of time to explain or discuss them.

After 14 roll-call votes Monday, in which all amendments offered by opponents of the bill were rejected, the Senate recessed at 5:49 p.m.

Humphrey and Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., GOP floor manager of the bill, announced Monday they and the 14 bipartisan civil rights team captains had agreed not to call up strengthening amendments they have proposed.

Their purpose, they said, was to speed up final action on the bill.

clare at a news conference in Washington Wednesday or Thursday that a ticket topped by the Arizona conservative can best help them win re-election this year.

Goldwater is virtually assured of support from the 56-vote Texas delegation to the national convention. That would push his delegate count to 674, well above the 655 votes he needs to capture the nomination.

Goldwater, in Dallas for a pair of speeches, had little to say about Scranton.

He told a reporter Monday he was not surprised that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—his foe in three presidential primaries—had thrown his support to the Pennsylvania governor. "We'll just have to wait and see" what the result will be, he said.

The Arizona senator assailed President Johnson's fiscal and foreign policies Monday night before some 1,500 cheering Republicans at a $100 a plate dinner.

He said the economic policies Johnson espouses show "that this administration's notion of fiscal responsibility went no deeper than the wheeler-dealer mentality of a card shark."

Goldwater said Johnson's foreign policy is uncertain and "weak-kneed."

He charged this policy is "leading us into World War III as surely as we were led into World War II by the same kind of stupid ineptitude."

"DEAR ABBY"

MANY COOKS MANY "TASTES"

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: A reader in Montpellier asked if good chefs had to taste their cooking to determine whether it was properly seasoned, or if they could tell by smelling it. Well, my father was a chef for over fifty years. He was chef to a governor of New York who later became president. I need not tell you that he was a fine cook, and no one ever saw him taste a thing.

CHEF'S DAUGHTER

Dear Abby: I am writing this while aboard a Great Lakes Merchant ship. I have been in the cooking business for over 23 years and the idea that a cook can tell how much sugar or salt is in something by SMELLING it is the craziest notion I have heard yet. Some herbs and spices, yes, but salt and sugar, no!

ALVIN J. L.

Dear Abby: I don't know whether the best chefs in the world "taste" their cooking or smell it to achieve the best results. But I DO know that cooks who constantly taste their own cooking never go to the trouble of getting a clean spoon for every taste. Therefore, whenever I happen to see a cook "tasting" the food, I avoid eating it, if it is at all possible.

ANTI-GERMS

Dear Abby: I don't want to brag, but I have a reputation for being an excellent cook. I never tasted anything. The only time I ever spoiled anything was when I made an exceptionally large quantity of spaghetti sauce. I tasted it, and then added a little more salt. That was the only time I ever made anything too salty. Thank you.

LOVES TO COOK

Dear Miss Van Buren: I am now considered a first-class chef, having worked my way up from dishwasher. I have been trained by the best chefs in the business and they never tasted anything, with the possible exception of soup to decide if it had enough salt in it. I can truthfully say that the only time I ever tasted anything on the job was when I was young, inexperienced and very, very hungry.

JUST ALFRED

Dear Abby: This should settle the question of whether the best cooks taste their cooking, or smell it in order to determine whether it is properly seasoned: I have an aunt who lost both of her sense of smell and sense of taste when she was a very young girl. Yet she turned out to be a fantastically good cook.

question of whether the best chefs taste anything, I would say they do not. I am not a chef, but have been a master brewer for many years. We never taste beer. We take a clean, 4-ounce glass, fill it with beer from the large tanks in which it is brewed. Look at it, throw the contents on the floor, and smell of the glass! We can test 30 or 40 tanks of beer that way. If we tasted the beer, after the first sample, all the beer would taste the same.

MASTER BREWER

Dear Brewer: Thank you for your interesting letter. I'll bet your brewery has the "happiest" mice in town.

and 3,895 persons were killed.

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—A shattering earthquake—the strongest since 1923—struck northern Japan today touching off fires, tidal waves and floods. First official reports indicated the death toll was low, however.

The National Police Agency reported four hours after the first shock that 11 persons had been killed and 20 seriously hurt.

The tremor's worst effect fell on the port of Niigata, a city of 290,000 on the Sea of Japan. Cracks opened in the streets, the sea backed up into parts of the industrial area, and oil storage tanks were set ablaze, sending clouds of black smoke into the air.

Normal communication was broken with Niigata, 267 rail miles northwest of Tokyo, and electric power was cut off. Water mains broke, pouring tons of water into the streets.

The quake, which hit at 1:01 p.m., registered a force of five on Japan's seven-maximum Sendair and Sautai. The meteorological Agency said this was only slightly less severe than the Tokyo-Yokohama quake 41 years ago which claimed more than 140,000 lives, mostly through fire.

The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey in Honolulu said the quake registered 7.25 on the Richter scale, which rated the 1906 San Francisco quake at 8.25.

Sendai and Sakata, by a quirk of nature, were virtually unscathed. The only damage reported by police was a few tiles shaken from buildings.

The Meteorological Agency said weak tremors shook northeastern Honshu about three hours after the major quake. National police headquarters in Tokyo reported only one death in Niigata, five in Tsuruoka, 120 miles north of Niigata, and three in Akita City.

The dead in Tsuruoka included three kindergarten children whose school collapsed. Thirteen other pupils were injured. Three persons were injured in Akita.

Autonomy Minister Masamichi Akazawa was ordered to Niigata for an inspection. The army, navy and national police were mobilized and ordered into the disaster area.

Kenichi Yamashita, pilot of an All-Japan Airways jet which flew over Niigata at about 10,000 feet, said he saw smoke rising from the city.

"I saw one large bridge completely collapsed," he reported. "One of the two runways at the airport was covered with water. I tried to raise the Niigata control tower but there was no answer."

First news photos from Niigata showed the Showa-Ohashi bridge destroyed with two of its spans collapsed into the Shinano River. Another bridge was intact.

In the background clouds of black and gray smoke billowed thousands of feet into the sky.

The national police reported more than 50 houses had crumbled in Niigata and one major gasoline company's installation had been destroyed.

CHATTER

By "Bill"

About the time you think it is silly to raise a garden, the weather, the bugs, to say nothing of the time you spend on it, makes the whole thing impractical. And if you live to see another Spring, you will NOT plant one seed. . . then something happens.

You shell a handful of those little green peas. The aroma from them, as you perform this simple task, is enough to whet the appetite of any dieter in the country. Then you go to the potato patch, take a fork and dig down gently to one side of the plant, careful not to disturb all of it, and you find little spuds about the size of your thumb. Cook the peas and potatoes together in a cream sauce with a dash of sugar. Serve them in a sauce dish because they should be a little soupy, and you need a spoon to lap it all up. The Waldorf Astoria, Maxim's in Paris, London's most famous Chop House, none of them can top this. . . it is a garden-grower's specialty the best!

Could be we are prejudiced, but we feel the same way about the dresses at Raley's Style Shoppe. We do not blame anyone for wanting to shop in other places occasionally, but we do feel that you can find just what you want right here at home. . . come in and let us show you.

Our transitional lines of cottons are coming in; these are geared for travel. Suits, jackets, costumes, one-piece dresses, cool, dark and wearable. Priced from $17.95 to $29.95 and all in-between. We invite you to see them today. . . the place is Raley's Style Shoppe, 523 West 3rd, Hope, Arkansas.

Cardinal Sag Apparently Is Contagious

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Sag apparently is contagious. Jack Spring and Lou Brock caught it only a few innings after they joined their new Cardinal teammates Monday night. The Sag also struck Glen Hobbie, another recent acquisition, as the Cardinals dropped a 9-3 decision to Houston for their fifth straight defeat and 17th in the last 23 games.

Spring and Brock, obtained in a six-player deal with the Chicago Cubs earlier in the day, arrived in the third inning of the Houston contest with the Cardinals winning 1-0. They barely had time to try on their new uniforms when they were thrust into action.

Spring was called upon to pitch in the seventh inning after the Colts scored four runs off Hobbie in the sixth for a 4-3 lead. The 31-year-old left-hander proceeded to give up four more runs, three of them unearned, one on a wild pitch.

Brock, an outfielder who figures prominently in St. Louis plans, batted for Spring in the eighth and struck out.

In his first two starts for the Cardinals, Hobbie allowed two earned runs and eight hits in 16 innings. The Colts, however, belted him solidly.

St. Louis, considered a prime contender for the National League pennant before the season started, began its tailspin May 23. At that time, the Cardinals were in third place, one game out of first.

One four-game and two five-game losing streaks later, they are in eighth place, seven games from the top and only one-half length ahead of the Colts.

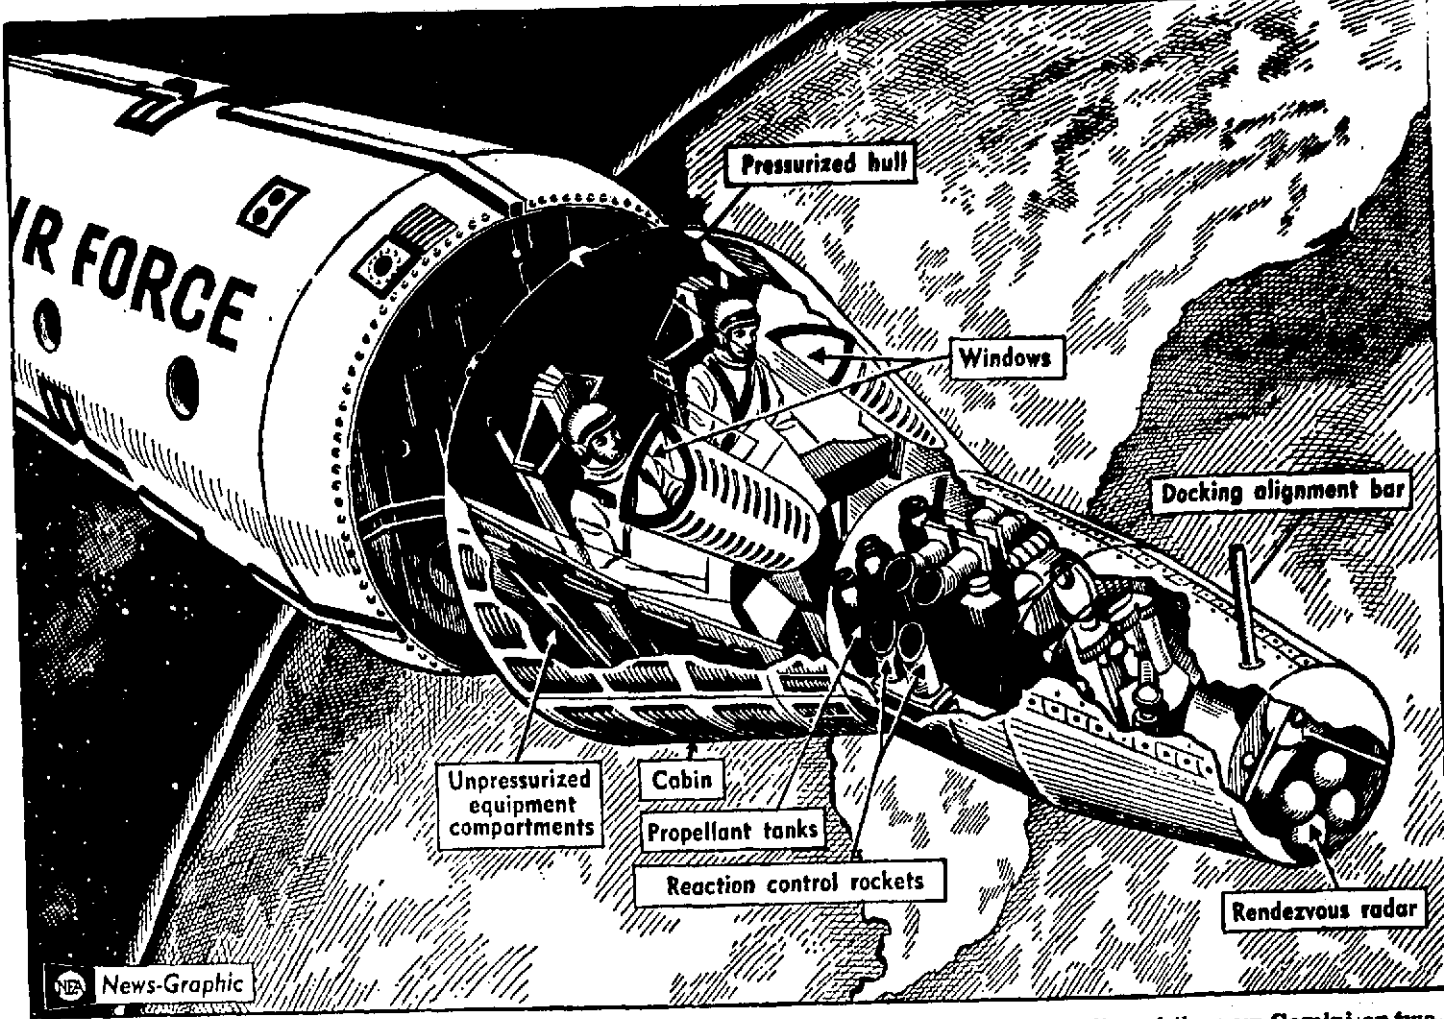

Only three other games were played Monday. San Francisco nipped Cincinnati 6-5 in the other NL game while Chicago blasted Baltimore 9-1 and Washington edged Los Angeles 3-2 in the American. Rain washed out Minnesota at Cleveland.

Walt Bond drove in four runs with two singles, getting on each against Hobbie and Spring. Hobbie also was the victim of Bob Aspromonte's two-run homer, his fourth home run in a week.

Bob Skinner, acquired from Cincinnati during the weekend, singled home one of the Cardinals' runs.

Jim Hart's single scored Willie McCovey in the ninth inning and ended the Giants' see-saw battle with the Reds. The Giants trailed 3-2 until the eighth when they scored three runs, two on Cap Peterson's pinch triple.

The Reds tied the game 5-5 in the ninth with the help of Hart's error. A double by John Edwards scored one run while Bobby Klaus' sacrifice fly into first place in the AL, erupting from the slump that held the White Sox stormed back knocked in the other games with the New York Yankees. They scored seven runs in the first inning as Pete Ward, Al Weiss and Gerry Mc-

NOT MUCH BIGGER—The Mercury space capsule was frighteningly small when you saw it, and the new Gemini or two-man capsule is not very much bigger. The Mercury stood 90 inches high and was 75.5 inches wide at bottom. The Gemini is basically only 12 inches higher and 9.5 inches wider or about 14 per cent larger overall. Newsgraphic above shows how Gemini will look in space. Parts of the ship are cut away to show various controls. Large "tank" trailing in back is a manned orbiting laboratory (MOL), which will be trailed by the Gemini in future flights and which also can be entered by one of the astronauts to perform experiments.

Ozan, First National Post Wins

Two games were played last night at Legion Park in the Babe Ruth League. Ozan Lumber Co. of Prescott walloped the VFW team of Hope 12-0. Franks connected for three hits for the winners; Jones got the only hit for Hope. Jameson was the winning pitcher.

In the second game, First National defeated Hope Merchants Assn. team 11 to 5. Westbrook, Parris and Williams got four hits apiece for the winners. Van Riper was the winning pitcher. Linda Still is official scorekeeper and reporter for the leagues.

Denver Wins 9-0 Over Hawaii

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Denver's Dennis Ribant rattled five singles to Hawaii batters while his teammates bunched eight hits for a 9-0 victory Monday. Denver's first shutout in the current Pacific Coast League season.

In other games San Diego smothered Salt Lake City 13-1 and Oklahoma City put down Spokane 8-2.

Rain caused cancellation of Dallas game at Tacoma and Portland at Seattle. Indianapolis and Arkansas were idle.

Only one Islander got past first base in the game at Denver. That was Herbie Plews, a former Denver player, who cracked a game-opening single and stole second. Ribant fanned nine and walked none.

Denver went ahead 2-0 in the third inning and then produced a four-run fifth inning and a three-run sixth. A two-run homer by Jim Coker climaxed the fifth.

Each man in the San Diego line-up scored at least one run at Salt Lake. The Padres hit safely in every inning but the eighth, and Ken Walters, Tony Perez and Don Pavletich contributed home runs in the rout. Salt Lake's only score came in the sixth when LeRoy Gregory cracked one of the six hits Dan Neville yielded and came around on a wild pitch and two infield outs.

Don Rudolph, a 19-game loser last season, won his first game since being recalled from the minors recently. He needed help from Ron Kline in the ninth after the Angels' Joe Adcock slammed his fourth homer in as many games.

The Senators broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh. Dick Phillips doubled home Jim King and scored on Ed Delmonico's single.

Veterans Praised by Harris

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., said here Saturday this nation's security and prosperity is a debt "owed almost solely" to America's veterans of the military services.

Harris addressed the state convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, saying that talk about the nation's security is too often "cheap and actionless."

Harris said, "Sometimes I have been forced to reflect on how cheap talk really is and how very dear and very rare actions are."

He said the nation's security can best be maintained by "insuring that America's defense are so powerful and so strong and so overwhelming that no other nation or groups of nations will ever dare to contemplate an attack upon us or risk an invitation from us to retaliate."

Harris also told his audience that veterans benefits paid to Arkansans totaled nearly $100 million in 1963. He said this amount went to 57,225 veterans or their relatives in the state.

Earlier at Little Rock, Harris said he has abandoned attempts to get a "fair trade" or "Quality control" law passed in Congress.

Such legislation would make it illegal to reduce prices pre-set by manufacturers on certain merchandise.

Harris said small businessmen claim they are being forced out of businesses by discount houses.

He said he has attempted to get such a bill through three times. The last effort was tabled last week by the Senate Commerce committee after the President came out against it.

Harris said Saturday, "I have made up my mind the bill is dead."

But the managers, Casey Stengel of the Mets and Yogi Berra of the Yankees, didn't seem to mind the weather. They sat side by side in the Mets' dugout conversing as in the old days when Casey was piloting the world champion Yankees and Yogi was his catcher and chief lieutenant.

They talked on even after the official announcement that the game had been postponed to next Monday night.

"Hey, Yogi," chided Stengel. "They tell me you were so anxious to beat us, you decided to come out of retirement and do the catching yourself."

"Taw," replied Berra. "Somebody musta been kiddin' you. I had Blanchard all ready to catch. Besides, the only reason I came to your dugout was because we beat the White Sox five straight. If they had beaten us five straight, you woulda had to come over to our dugout to talk to me."

"Yes, I saw something about that in the papers," said Casey, winking at no one in particular. "You fellas weren't very kind to my friend Al Lopez. They tell me Al was in such a state of shock after you beat him that Sunday doubleheader, he stood frozen in the dugout and didn't move for several minutes."

Berra grinned.

"It couldn't happen to a nicer guy," he said.

"Well, now that you're winning again," said Casey, "tell the truth, Berra. Weren't you a little bit nervous when you were losing all the mgames?"

"Shaw, Case, honest," said Yogi. "I wasn't never nervous."

Exhibition Game Is Rained Out

NEW YORK (AP)—The rain beat down relentlessly on the already soggy field making it impossible for the Yankees and Mets to play their heralded exhibition game Monday night.

4 Troopers Assaulted by Gunmen

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP)—Two state policemen were shot and wounded and two others captured and handcuffed to a tree for a brief period Sunday by three men who were stopped on the Pennsylvania Turnpike for a routine radar speed check.

The three, all from Milwaukee, Wis., were arrested by police several hours later, after a massive manhunt with bloodhounds and helicopters. State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy directed some 100 men in the hunt.

The three, Gerald L. Sarson, 17, Howard E. Langnes, 24, and James Eugene Szulcowski, 21, were charged with assault with intent to kill, pointing a deadly weapon, and aggravated assault and battery against a police officer.

They were committed to Lancaster County prison, awaiting a hearing. Lt. Rufus Williams said additional charges will be filed.

The wounded troopers are Edward Herbst, 35, of Reamstown, Pa., and Fred W. Bendt, 22, of Nazareth, Pa. Herbst was shot in the face and neck and was reported in serious condition at Ephrata General Hospital. Bendt, who was shot in the leg, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Police theorized that the trio shot at the troopers because they were in a stolen car and because they may have thought they were going to be picked up.

"I knew we'd come around sooner or later."

SHORT RIBS

Walker's Testimony Near End

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Trial of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's $2-million libel suit against The Associated Press resumes today before Dist. Judge Charles Murray.

At the weekend recess Friday, the plaintiff's case was near an end. When Walker's attorneys rest, the AP is expected to make motions for dismissal of the complaint. Failing these, defense testimony will be offered to the jury of four women and eight men chosen June 8.

Walker, 54, contends he was libeled by AP stories that he led a charge of students against U.S. marshals during the Sept. 30, 1962, desegregation riots at the University of Mississippi.

Two men were killed during a crisis over the admission to Ole Miss of Negro James Meredith.

During three days on the witness stand last week, Walker testified he came from his home in Dallas merely to see what was going on at the Oxford, Miss. campus. He said he never approached within harassing distance of the marshals, and that he attempted in a speech to dissuade rioting students from violence.

In cross-examination, AP counsel sought to show that Walker interjected himself into an explosive situation, although aware of federal court orders that Meredith's integration into the university was not to be interfered with.

There was testimony also that before he went to Oxford, Walker sought to rally segregationists, with a broadcast plea to "bring your flag, your tent and your skillet, 10,000 strong, from every state in the Union."

Submarine Fire Under Probe

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP)—An investigation continued today into the cause of a fire which extensively damaged the nuclear submarine Haddock, under construction here.

A spokesman for Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. said it was too soon to determine the extent of the damage to the $40-million submarine from the fire late Saturday night.

The Haddock, sister ship of the ill-fated Thresher, is in the advanced stages of construction. However, none of the nuclear equipment had been installed.

Rights Leader Gets Degree From Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale University, predicting that generations of Americans yet unborn will echo its admiration, conferred an honorary degree today upon Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

King, who was released on bond from St. Augustine, Fla., jail Saturday, was one of 13 persons who received honorary degrees at the university's 263rd commencement.

The others included Peace Corps Director R. Sargent Shriver, Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and actor Alfred Lunt and his actress wife, Lynn Fontanne.

King received a doctor of laws degree.

King received a standing ovation from the more than 10,000 persons—graduates and guests—at the commencement exercises. He was the only one of the honorary degree recipients to get such an ovation.

The honorary degree was the second awarded King, Negro civil rights leader, in two days. Springfield College at Springfield, Mass., honored him Sunday.

King, jailed last week after a sit-in demonstration, was hailed by the nation's third oldest university in a citation which read:

"As your eloquence has kindled the nation's sense of outrage, so your steadfast refusal to countenance violence in resistance to injustice has heightened our sense of national shame."

"The outrage and shame together shall one day have vindicated the promise of legal, social and economic opportunity for all citizens, the gratitude of peoples everywhere and of generations of Americans yet unborn will echo our admiration."

Mt. Etna Rumbles Again in Sicily

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Mt. Etna rumbled, thundered, and hurled incandescent clouds of volcanic ash 3,000 feet into the air today on the fourth day of a new eruption.

Explosions came from the two mile high central cone. The observatory at Acereale, at the foot of the volcano, said the eruptions were accompanied by three sharp earth shocks.
